Great news!

Energy Institute membership for employees is here, opening up complimentary, career-enhancing support for you and your colleagues.

The Energy Institute (EI) is the chartered professional membership body for people who work across the world of energy.

Whether you’re looking to get professionally qualified, to progress in the energy sector, or simply interested in understanding more about energy, the EI is here for you.

And as an employee of a company which holds corporate membership of the EI, you can sign yourself up for Associate membership without the usual fee.
What are the benefits of joining?

Bolster your credentials
Demonstrate your commitment, competence and expertise by working towards valuable professional qualifications in energy, including Chartered status.

Get connected
Connect with others working or interested in energy through our member and young professional communities in geographies around the world, and free and discounted events and training.

Access support
Gain confidential support through EI Assist and, if you're aiming to develop professionally, use EI Connect to find a mentor and mycareerpath to record your progress.

Be in the know
Access extensive e-library resources, our weekly digital magazine New Energy World and discounted internationally renowned publications and guidance.

Contribute to your industry
Expand your experience and share your knowledge by taking part in research initiatives, joining specialist committees, speaking at conferences, and becoming a mentor.

Gain a wider perspective
Join 20,000 other members to learn about how energy is developing in your field and more broadly around the world. You’ll discover new ideas and future opportunities.
Hear from some of our members

Gino Antoine Leon AMEI
Wind Turbine Graduate Engineer, Public Utilities Corporation — Mahé, Seychelles

Being an Associate has greatly benefited my career. The skills and knowledge from their Level 1 Energy Management Training allowed me to optimise energy consumption in my role, their resources keep me updated on industry trends and their events and training facilitated networking opportunities.

Shahda Al Taie AMEI
ESG Manager for the energy sector, KPMG — Dubai, UAE

Being an Associate has given me great access to the wider EI network and has helped me support other young professionals along their career journeys in the energy sector. I am an active member of the board of the Middle East branch, and I chair the Young Professionals Network in the region.

Mattias Gustafsson AMEI
Laboratory Engineer, Preem Refinery — Gothenburg, Sweden

I’ve received support from the EI over the past two years. The meetings about sustainable aviation fuels have been amazing and have given me so much valuable information. A new world opened up for me, and I became a member to fully take advantage of all the knowledge available from the EI, without which it would be very hard for me to find all the information I need.
You’re almost a member.

Membership for employees is available on a complimentary basis to anyone working for an organisation which is a corporate member of the EI.

It applies to the Associate grade of membership only. If this is already you, you will not have to pay for your next renewal.

If you are an Affiliate member and would like to benefit from complimentary membership, email companies@energyinst.org to ask us to transfer you over to Associate.

Membership arrangements and payments for professional grades are unchanged.

Here’s how to get started

Are you an existing Associate member?

If you already use your company email address for your membership, you have automatically been moved to complimentary membership for employees and you don’t need to take any action.

1. Click here to log in.

2. Enter your credentials
   If you aren’t sure of your details, click forgot password to reset your account details. Don’t forget to check your spam.

3. Click ‘My EI’ in the top right-hand corner.

4. Click ‘My details’, and update your primary email – make sure to use your company email address.

5. Your account is now linked to your employer’s corporate membership. When renewal comes around, you will not be charged.

Not an existing member?

If you already have an online EI account, jump straight to step 4. If you aren’t sure of your details, click forgot password to reset your account details. Don’t forget to check your spam.

1. Click here to create an account. Ensure you use your company email address to register and click ‘Sign up’ once completed.

2. You will receive an email from the EI asking you to verify your account. Don’t forget to check your spam.

3. Once verified, your account will be linked to your employer’s corporate membership.

4. Click here to begin the joining process, choose Associate member and click ‘Join now’.

5. Complete your details, checking the price is showing as free.

6. Click ‘Finish and join’ to confirm. You are now an individual member through your company.
All done? Don’t forget to

- Consent to receive emails and manage your preferences by logging in and letting us know your interests here. We’ll tailor your emails, so you only get what interests you.
- Book selected events and training under the Member rate, this will guarantee your discount.
- Sign in to read New Energy World magazine each week in full, or to access good practice guidance on a complimentary or discounted basis.
- Add AMEI after your name, tell colleagues and share with your social - tag us on LinkedIn @energy institute or on X (formerly Twitter) @energyinstitute

Want to learn more about membership of the EI? Click here. Any questions? Please contact us at companies@energyinst.org.